A CHURCH MEMBER 70 YEARS, RECORD OF SALEM WOMAN

Seventy years a member of one church!

This is the unusual record of Mrs. S. N. Van Blaricom of the Franklin rd. who has been a member of the First Presbyterian church for more than 70 years. "I have gone to church all my life and still enjoy it," she said.

Mrs. Van Blaricom is the oldest member of this church from the standpoint of membership. Joining the church at the age of nine, Mrs. Van Blaricom was the third generation of Presbyterians in her family. Her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Grisselle, who came to Salem from New Garden, joined the church in 1859. Her mother, Annie Grisselle, became a member in 1861. Mrs. Van Blaricom has been affiliated with the church since February, 1876, when Dr. Henry Fry was the pastor.

Used Lantern on Prayer Nights

Mrs. Van Blaricom recalls that there were no street lights in Salem when she was a small girl. She took her grandmother to prayer meeting on Wednesday night and carried a lantern.

Mamie Boyle was her first Sunday school teacher. Other teachers she remembers are: Jennie Turner, Mazie Boone Waterworth, Mary Harriet Snyder, Rush Taggart and Mrs. Mary Forehope.

A graduate of Salem High school, Mrs. Van Blaricom is a member of the class which graduated 59 years ago June, 1887. There were 10 in the class, five boys and five girls. 1,100,000 Railroad Workers Cast Strike Vote Tomorrow

CHICAGO, May 14—More than 1,100,000 railroad workers will start casting a nation-wide strike vote tomorrow to back up demands for a wage boost.

Participating will be personnel who do not operate trains. They include shop craft workers, telegraphers, clerks, yard hands and similar workers, organized into 15 unions.

B. M. Jewell, chairman of the unions' conference committee, said the strike poll would be concluded by June 20.

At issue in the current controversy is the unions' demand for a wage increase approximating 14 cents an hour. An arbitration board which considered the workers' demands for an increase of 30 cents an hour in March awarded them 16 cents an hour, an increase which Jewell said was "wholly inadequate."

On April 15 the non-operating unions notified the carriers they intended to press demands for the additional 14 cents an hour to bring the total increase up to the original demand of 30 cents.

Jewell said an "absolute minimum" of 14 cents an hour additional was necessary to correct inequities existing in the rates of pay of railroad workers compared with the rates of comparable workers in other industries.

"There is no justification for the continuance of this inequity," Jewell asserted. "As was demonstrated before the arbitration board, the present and future financial position of the carriers is very favorable. Other workers, whose wage rates are already far above those of the non-operating railroad employees, are receiving substantial additional increases."

"Consequently," he added, "the present inequity must be corrected as a matter of justice to these employees."

A strike call of some 280,000 operating railroad workers—the engineers and trainmen—also have served demands on the carriers for additional increases.

The Harder youth was fined $10 and costs for operating a car without proper license and Charles E. Watkins, 25, of Pittsburgh, was fined $25 and costs for failure to stop within an assured clear distance. Watkins was driving the truck-trailer outfit, Salem highway patrolmen said.

Other patrol arrests yesterday included:

Myrtle E. Partridge, 46, of Niles, fined $15 and costs in Mayor R. R. Johnson's court on a charge of allowing an unlicensed minor to operate his motorcycle.

Ralph H. Lawrence, 19, of R. D. 2, Warren, fined $5 and costs by Justice of the Peace C. M. Gardner of Edinburg on a charge of failing to observe a stop sign.

William A. Sineo, 23, of Youngstown, fined $5 and costs by Mayor Hugh Dickson of Canfield for driving a vehicle without the owner's consent.

2 SERIOUSLY HURT IN RTE. 14 CRASH

Leroy Harden, 49, of Donora, Pa., and his wife, Mabel, 43, suffered serious injuries at 4:10 p. m. yesterday when the car in which they were riding, driven by their son, William Harden, 25, was struck in the rear by a truck and trailer traveling east on Route 14, half a mile east of Columbiana.

Leroy Harden received a broken back and lacerations of the head and shoulders. His wife suffered a fractured hip and a back injury. Both are at Salem City hospital, where attendants report their condition as fair.

The Harden youth was fined $10 and costs for operating a car without proper license and Charles E. Watkins, 25, of Pittsburgh, was fined $25 and costs for failure to stop within an assured clear distance. Watkins was driving the truck-trailer outfit, Salem highway patrolmen said.

The council passed a resolution asking that a county forester be hired in conjunction with the extension office to supervise and better the farm forestry program in Columbiana county. The request will be submitted to the state.

Executive Order Readied To Keep Alive Draft Law

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14—Senator Hill (D-Ala.) said today senate leaders have decided to accept house prohibitions against drafting fathers and teen-agers rather than let the draft act expire at midnight.

Hill reported this agreement was reached at a two-hour closed session of the senate military committee today.

"We don't want to accept these amendments," Hill told a reporter. "We can fight out the permanent provisions of the legislation later."

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the military committee was authorized to ask the senate to agree to the house amendments.

The White House said today President Truman is prepared to issue an emergency order preserving Selective Service machinery in the event congress fails to complete action today on draft extension.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross so told a news conference.

It would preserve the machinery of the draft system, he said, but added he could not give any details as to how the order will be worded. It could not provide for drafting anyone in event of the draft law's expiration.

Committee Maps Strategy

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) called the senate military committee into closed session to map strategy on house changes in the expiring act.

Thomas agreed that the draft will die at midnight unless the senate and house agree on stopgap legislation.

The house prohibited induction of fathers and teen-agers last night before accepting a senate-approved extension of Selective Service until July 1.

Thomas told reporters the senate could accept the house changes, or ask for a conference between senate and house representatives. The latter would require approval by both senate and house.

So uncertain was the outlook that President Truman was said to be readying an executive order keeping intact the Selective Service machinery.

Well-informed officials said the purpose of the order would be to prevent complete disintegration of the draft system in the hope that congress eventually will work out some solution.

These same officials conceded there is nothing the President can do, should the law expire tonight, to permit future inductions, continue the re-employment rights of men now in service, or allow the retention in Selective Service camps of conscientious objectors.

All these things stem from the draft law itself.

The house acted despite warnings of administration leaders that it was killing the draft law outright by throwing the bill into a senate controversy which would permit anyone to block his consideration.

The house accepted the teen-age and father induction bans by a roll-call vote of 213 to 154 and then passed the amended measure by a count of 280 to 84.

DEMANDS HOLD ON UMW FUND

Lewis Seeks Administration of Miners' Welfare Treasury

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14—John L. Lewis today demanded exclusive union administration of a $70,000,000 miners welfare fund which he proposes to raise through a seven per cent levy on payrolls.

The United Mine Workers' president declared the fund, to be paid exclusively by the operators, would have to be granted before the miners would negotiate "any contract, now or later."

Lewis told reporters at a news conference, after leaving contract negotiating sessions, that the seven per cent levy was "ultra-conservative" and its receipts would be used for these six purposes only:

Adequate and modern medical service; properly standardized hospitalization; life and health insurance at reasonable rates; rehabilitation and training of disabled men; financial aid in case of distress and hardship; and—if any money is left—for "cultural and educational work" among the mine workers.

Lewis said he had explained the demands so thoroughly that the operators said they desired no further explanation on that issue.

The UMW, Lewis said, rejects the idea of a tripartite board of management, labor and government representatives—because it would "simply become another bureaucratic governmental agency with the overhead eating up a large part of the revenue, clogged with tape, and with its awards delayed after the manner of other government agencies."

Three other operating unions—the conductors, switchmen and firemen and engineers—also have served demands on the carriers for additional increases.

The Harder youth was fined $10 and costs for operating a car without proper license and Charles E. Watkins, 25, of Pittsburgh, was fined $25 and costs for failure to stop within an assured clear distance. Watkins was driving the truck-trailer outfit, Salem highway patrolmen said.

Bowles Favors Food Rationing, Hoover Urges Delay In Plans

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today he will recommend restoration of food rationing if the world food situation "gets tighter."

Bowles made this statement a day after former President Herbert Hoover counseled against such action until this year's crops are harvested.

"I don't think the situation is tight enough now," Bowles told a news conference, "but if it gets tighter I think we should put it (rationing) on."

Bowles mentioned meat, butter, cheese and possibly bread as foods it might be necessary to ration.

The stabilization chief said rationing would assure fairer distribution of food in this country if overseas commitments cut deeply into the total supply.

Two Months Will Tell

"We will know better in 3 to 60 days as to what should be done," Bowles said.

Back from a global survey of hungry nations, Hoover said he thought it too early for a decision on rationing, because he had hopes the world food production will be better than anticipated, with a consequent lessening of the famine emergency.

The survey report drew warm approval from President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson—a fact which influenced food experts in reaching their conclusion that rationing would keep out of the picture at least for the present.

These experts were of the opinion the country's famine relief efforts until harvest will continue to be confined to voluntary food conservation and government restrictions on grain use.

Later Appraisal Due

Hoover spoke out on the rationing question at a news conference after presenting his report to Mr. Truman yesterday. Once the 1946 harvests are in, he said, an appraisal of supplies and needs can be made to determine whether renewed rationing here would be necessary to carry hungry areas through until 1947 harvests.

Hoover's statement lent support to contentions of both Mr. Truman and Anderson that rationing is not necessary to meet foreign food needs during the present emergency, which, in Hoover's estimate, will cease for the year about Sept. 1.

Hoover stated that he believed voluntary food conservation measures, if effectively laid before consumers, could save more food than coupon rationing.

The former president, who soon will go to South America to seek greater relief aid from countries there, is expected to insist that more steam be put behind the voluntary wheat and fats conservation program outlined in March by President Truman's famine emergency committee.

That program called upon Americans to eat 40 per cent less wheat products and 25 per cent less fats during the current emergency. In addition, the government has reduced civilian flour supplies 25 per cent and has restricted use of wheat for livestock feed.

Hoover said he saw no evidence of mass starvation in his 35,000-mile survey of 22 countries in Europe, Africa and Asia, but he emphasized that millions might starve if present famine relief assistance ended.

JAP COUNSEL HITS HIROSHIMA BOMBING

TOYKO, May 14—An American army officer defending his top-ranking Japanese charged with war crimes, contended today that Japan's "neak attack on Pearl Harbor was no more mass murder than the atomic bombing at Hiroshima."

"We make no apologies for using the atomic bomb," Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan leaped up to reply.

The defense also sought dismissal of aggression charges against all 28 defendants by contending it would be impossible for the accused to get a fair trial in an Allied court. Keenan promptly termed this challenge "premature"—a mis-conception.

The court took the motion under advisement and recessed until tomorrow. Neither did it announce a decision on yesterday's defense contention that Japan surrendered conditionally and consequently should not be prosecuted for crimes against peace or against humanity (aggression and mass murder).

RED BULGARIA TROOPS THEN WOULD LEAVE

Proposal Brings Objections from Both Bevin and Sec. Byrnes

PARIS, May 14—American sources said today that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed withdrawal of Russian troops from Bulgaria on the condition that Allied troops leave Italy, but U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin disapproved the suggestion.

Both Byrnes and Bevin objected when Molotov proposed the bargain of withdrawing from Bulgarian lines of communication to Austria. The informants said, Bevin declared a comparable arrangement would be for the Russians to leave Romania if the Allies left Italy. He said Britain was ready to withdraw from Italy if the Soviets left Romania.

Last September Agreement

The British foreign secretary further was reported to have declared that the Russians agreed at the foreign ministers council in London last September to a decision that they would withdraw from Bulgaria while leaving troops in Romania to protect their lines of communications to Austria.

An informant said Byrnes and Bevin then proposed the establishment of a commission of military experts to decide whether the Allied lines of communication through Italy to Austria were physically necessary.

Molotov was said to have agreed to formation of the commission, but nothing was finally decided.

During the interchange Byrnes again tried unsuccessfully to persuade his three colleagues to study the Austrian situation by proposing that the deputy foreign ministers begin preparation of a treaty with that country.

Again Molotov blocked the move. Stand Pat On Trieste

The British and French delegations were reported willing to accept internationalization of the city of Trieste as a solution of the Italian-Yugoslav boundary, key problem of the conference. But both the United States and Russia were standing pat on their previous positions.

The council prepared to consider the German problem tomorrow.

A French-Italian boundary commission presented an inconclusive report on their investigations. The unanimous report said French claims for slight frontier rectifications were well based ethnically, as the regions were as much French as Italian.

The experts said, however, the main question was the hydroelectric power sites in the Tenda and Brenza regions. These supply power to cities on along the Italian Mediterranean coast. The ministers sent the report to their deputies to study the technical question involved.

The ministers, meeting amid predictions that the conference would end by Thursday or Friday, turned today to discussion of the French-Italian frontier. The German problem, including French requests for the detachment of the Ruhr and Rhineland, is scheduled to be considered tomorrow.

U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was reported to have used the most vigorous language he has employed to date at the conference in reiterating yesterday that the United States would not yield to Russian demands on Trieste.

SIAMESE TWINS DIE AFTER LIVING WEEK

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14.—The Siamese twin girls, born here a week ago to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hulse, Deep River, Wash., died in a hospital today.

Hospital attendants reported the 26-year-old mother both saddened and relieved at the news. "She dreaded to have it happen," an attendant said, "although she felt that it would probably be the best thing."

The babies were born joined at the base of the spine. They would never have been able to walk.

The infants—Susan and Carol—were weakened yesterday, after a brief period in which they grew stronger. Dr. Joseph V. Springer, the attending physician had not expected them to live.

Executive Order Readied To Keep Alive Draft Law

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Senators Hill (D-Ala.) said today that leaders have decided to accept house prohibitions against drafting fathers and teen-agers rather than let the draft act expire at midnight.

Hill reported this agreement was reached at a two-hour closed session of the senate military committee today.

"We don't want to accept these amendments," Hill told a reporter. "We can fight out the permanent provisions of the legislation later."

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the military committee was authorized to ask the senate to agree to the house amendments.

The White House said today President Truman is prepared to issue an emergency order preserving Selective Service machinery in the event congress fails to complete action today on draft extension.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross so told a news conference.

It would preserve the machinery of the draft system, he said, but added he could not give any details as to how the order will be worded. It could not provide for drafting anyone in event of the draft law's expiration.

Committee Maps Strategy

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) called the senate military committee into closed session to map strategy on house changes in the expiring act.

Thomas agreed that the draft will die at midnight unless the senate and house agree on stopgap legislation.

The house prohibited induction of fathers and teen-agers last night before accepting a senate-approved extension of Selective Service until July 1.

Thomas told reporters the senate could accept the house changes, or ask for a conference between senate and house representatives. The latter would require approval by both senate and house.

So uncertain was the outlook that President Truman was said to be reading an executive order keeping intact the Selective Service machinery.

Well-informed officials said the purpose of the order would be to prevent complete disintegration of the draft system in the hope that congress eventually will work out some solution.

These same officials conceded there is nothing the President can do, should the law expire tonight, to permit future inductions, continue the re-employment rights of men now in service, or allow the retention in Selective Service camps of conscientious objectors. All these things stem from the draft law itself.

The house acted despite warnings of administration leaders that it was killing the draft law outright by throwing the bill into a senate controversy which would permit anyone to block his consideration.

The house accepted the teen-ager and father induction bans by a roll-call vote of 213 to 154 and then passed the amended measure by a count of 280 to 84.

DEMANDS HOLD ON UMW FUND

Lewis Seeks Administration of Miners' Welfare Treasury

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—John L. Lewis today demanded exclusive administration of a $70,000,000 miners welfare fund which he proposes to raise through a seven per cent levy on payrolls.

The United Mine Workers' president declared the fund, to be paid exclusively by the operators, would have to be granted before the miners would negotiate "any contract, now or later."

Lewis told reporters at a news conference, after leaving contract negotiating sessions, that the seven per cent levy, "a fair contribution," and its receipts would be used for these six purposes only:

1. Adequate and modern medical service; properly standardized hospitalization; life and health insurance at reasonable rates; rehabilitation and training of disabled men; financial aid in case of distress and hardship; and—if any money is left—for "cultural and educational work" among the mine workers.

Lewis said he had explained the demands so thoroughly that the operators said they desired no further explanation on that issue.

The UMW, Lewis said, rejects the idea of a tripartite board of management, labor and government representatives—because it would "simply become another bureaucratic governmental agency with the overhead eating up a large part of the revenue, clogged with red tape, and with its awards delayed after the manner of other government agencies."

A strike call of some 280,000 operating railroad workers—the engineers and trainmen—for May 18, remained in effect today and there was no indication of a truce as the deadline neared.

Three other operating unions—the conductors, switchmen and firemen and engine-men—also have served demands on the carriers for additional increases.

"There is no justification for the continuance of this inequity," Jewell asserted. "As was demonstrated before the arbitration board, the present and future financial position of the carriers is very favorable. Other workers, whose wage rates are already far above those of the non-operating railroad employees, are receiving substantial additional increases."

"Consequently," he added, "the present inequity must be corrected as a matter of justice to these employees."

A request for a forester in Columbiana county was made last night at a meeting of the Columbiana County Agricultural council in the Cape hotel.

Floyd Lower, county extension agent, presided over the session, at which 30 persons, representing the various farm groups and organizations throughout the county, expressed their opinions and reported on group activities.

The council passed a resolution asking that a county forester be hired in conjunction with the extension office to supervise and better the farm forestry program in Columbiana county. The request will be submitted to the state.

COLUMBUS, May 14.—Albert A. Horstman has been persuaded to accept re-election as Democratic state chairman in a "peace move" by Ray T. Miller of Cleveland, it was reliably reported today.

The move was taken, observers said, as a solution to a break in party unity that threatened last week.

Former State Treasurer Clarence H. Kniesley is expected to be selected as Democratic campaign manager when the state central committee meets Thursday.

Both Kniesley and Eugene Manhart of Dover were contestants for the chairmanship before the new "harmony slate" was developed.

Bowles Favors Food Rationing, Hoover Urges Delay In Plans

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today he will recommend restoration of food rationing if the world food situation "gets tighter."

Bowles made this statement a day after former President Herbert Hoover counseled against such action until this year's crops are harvested.

"I don't think the situation is tight enough now," Bowles told a news conference, "but if it gets tighter I think we should put it (rationing) on."

Bowles mentioned meat, butter, cheese and possibly bread as foods it might be necessary to ration.

The stabilization chief said rationing would assure fairer distribution of food in this country if overseas commitments cut deeply into the total supply.

Two Months Will Tell

"We will know better in 3 to 60 days as to what should be done," Bowles said.

Back from a global survey of hungry nations, Hoover said he thought it too early for a decision on rationing, because he had hopes the world food production will be better than anticipated, with a consequent lessening of the famine emergency.

The survey report drew warm approval from President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson—a fact which influenced food experts in reaching their conclusion that rationing would keep out of the picture at least for the present.

These experts were of the opinion the country's famine relief efforts will continue to be confined to voluntary food conservation and government restrictions on grain use.

Later Appraisal Due

Hoover spoke out on the rationing question at a news conference after presenting his report to Mr. Truman yesterday. Once the 1946 harvests are in, he said, an appraisal of supplies and needs can be made to determine whether renewed rationing here would be necessary to carry hungry areas through until 1947 harvests.

Hoover's statement lent support to contentions of both Mr. Truman and Anderson that rationing is not necessary to meet foreign food needs during the present emergency, which, in Hoover's estimate, will ease for the year about Sept. 1.

Hoover stated that he believed voluntary food conservation measures, if effectively laid before consumers, could save more food than coupon rationing.

The former president, who soon will go to South America to seek greater relief aid from countries there, is expected to insist that more steam be put behind the voluntary wheat and fats conservation program outlined in March by President Truman's famine emergency committee.

That program called upon Americans to eat 40 per cent less wheat products and 25 per cent less fats during the current emergency. In addition, the government has reduced civilian flour supplies 25 per cent and has restricted use of wheat for livestock feed.

Hoover said he saw no evidence of mass starvation in his 35,000-mile survey of 22 countries in Europe, Africa and Asia, but he emphasized that millions might starve if present famine relief assistance ended.

190 AT JR. HIGH TO BE PROMOTED

Several students who served as schoolboy patrolmen, among them a number of seventh graders, also will be honored.

Members of the class will make out their freshman class schedules Thursday.

The final party for the eighth graders will take place May 24 at the school.

JAP COUNSEL HITS HIROSHIMA BOMBING

TOYKO, May 14.—An American army officer defending five top-ranking Japanese charged with war crimes contended today that Japan's "neak attack on Pearl Harbor was no more mass murder than the atomic bombing at Hiroshima."

"We make no apologies for using the atomic bomb," Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan leaped up to reply.

The defense also sought dismissal of aggression charges against all 28 defendants by contending it would be impossible for the accused to get a fair trial in an Allied court. Keenan promptly termed this challenge "premature...a misconception."

The court took the motion under advisement and recessed until tomorrow. Neither did it announce a decision on yesterday's defense contention that Japan surrendered conditionally and consequently should not be prosecuted for crimes against peace or against humanity (aggression and mass murder).

RED BULGARIA TROOPS THEN WOULD LEAVE

Proposal Brings Objections from Both Bevin and Sec. Byrnes

PARIS, May 14.—American sources said today that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed withdrawal of Russian troops from Bulgaria on the condition that Allied troops leave Italy, but U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin disapproved the suggestion.

Both Byrnes and Bevin objected when Molotov proposed the bargain of withdrawing from Bulgarian lines of communication to Austria, the informants said. Bevin declared a comparable arrangement would be for the Russians to leave Romania if the Allies left Italy. He said Britain was ready to withdraw from Italy if the Soviets left Romania.

Last September Agreement

The British foreign secretary further was reported to have declared that the Russians agreed at the foreign ministers council in London last September to a decision that they would withdraw from Bulgaria while leaving troops in Romania to protect their lines of communications to Austria.

An informant said Byrnes and Bevin then proposed the establishment of a commission of military experts to decide whether the Allied lines of communication through Italy to Austria were physically necessary.

Molotov was said to have agreed to formation of the commission, but nothing was finally decided.

During the interchange Byrnes again tried unsuccessfully to persuade his three colleagues to study the Austrian situation by proposing that the deputy foreign ministers begin preparation of a treaty with that country.

Again Molotov blocked the move.

Stand Pat On Trieste

The British and French delegations were reported willing to accept internationalization of the city of Trieste as a solution of the Italian-Yugoslav boundary, key problem of the conference. But both the United States and Russia were standing pat on their previous positions.

The council prepared to consider the German problem tomorrow.

A French-Italian boundary commission presented an inconclusive report on their investigations. The unanimous report said French claims for slight frontier rectifications were well based ethnically, as the regions were as much French as Italian.

The experts said, however, the main question was the hydroelectric power sites in the Triesta and Breda regions. These supply power to cities on along the Italian Mediterranean coast. The ministers sent the report to their deputies to study the technical question involved.

The ministers, meeting amid predictions that the conference would end by Thursday or Friday, turned today to discussion of the French-Italian frontier. The German problem, including French requests for the detachment of the Ruhr and Rhineland, is scheduled to be considered tomorrow.

U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was reported to have used the most vigorous language he has employed to date at the conference in reiterating yesterday that the United States would not yield to Russian demands on Trieste.

SIAMESE TWINS DIE AFTER LIVING WEEK

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14.—The Siamese twin girls, born here a week ago to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hulse, Deep River, Wash., died in a hospital today.

Hospital attendants reported the 26-year-old mother both saddened and relieved at the news. "She dreaded to have it happen," an attendant said, "although she felt that it would probably be the best thing."

The babies were born joined at the base of the spine. They would never have been able to walk.

The infants—Susan and Carol—were weakened yesterday, after a brief period in which they grew stronger. Dr. Joseph V. Springer, the attending physician had not expected them to live.

The father, a logger, was notified of the deaths this morning. He and Mrs. Hulse have two small healthy boys.

Events Prove A Rebuttal

The fundamental proposition of the New Deal—that a labor union can do no wrong—has been given another hard rebuttal by John L. Lewis.

If the president of United Mine Workers had assigned himself to the task of proving that the New Deal handed labor bosses more power than they were prepared to use wisely, he couldn't have done a better job. He, his union and his political maneuvers have done more to jar the public into realization of actual and potential abuses of the labor movement by ruthless leaders than anything in the New Deal era, except illegal seizure of plants during the C.I.O. drive to organize auto workers. That drive was made, incidentally, under the direction of John Lewis as president of C.I.O.

In 1940 Mr. Lewis, having fallen out with Franklin D. Roosevelt, bolted to Wilkie, promising to carry his union with him. His promise to resign the presidency of C.I.O. if Wilkie lost was crammed down his throat. Philip Murray became president of C.I.O., and he and Lewis began a feud for prestige that has cost workers millions of dollars and lately has taken the shape of a civil war in the ranks of union labor. This war is no longer secret. It is in the open. It is a showdown struggle for control.

The coal strike which has set back the nation's production schedules another few months at a critical time is the latest event in a series so continuous it has become a condition. It has been demonstrated over and over that labor unions have been given more leeway in federal law and more consideration in the application of law than their leaders can be trusted with for the nation's safety. Events provide the rebuttal to the New Deal's hopeful proposition that labor leaders could do no wrong.

Government Statistics

For as long as anyone can remember, government facts and charts have been a source of generally accepted information. To quote "government figures" was to quote statistical gospel. Now, however, some heretical questions are being raised by various businessmen and economists.

The general tenor of their complaint is that glowing government reports on production are inaccurate, unsupported, and put out for "propaganda" purposes. It is claimed that some agencies have drawn the wrong conclusions from their own figures, and that business has drawn conclusions from other government figures with adverse and unhappy results.

One instance cited is the suggestion that industry generally could raise wages from 15 to 25 per cent without raising prices. This was made by the Commerce Department and Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion on the basis of "government figures." Since then, upward price revisions by other agencies have tended to contradict this conclusion.

Another specific complaint is against the OWMR assertion that total output of goods and services is up some 44 per cent from the prewar level, and that the "gross national product" is $154,000,000,000.

The first figure has been contrasted with the Civilian Price Administration's preliminary estimate on March production, which showed drops of from 25 to 75 per cent in the output of automobiles, trucks, refrigerators, electric ranges, sewing machines and laundry equipment below prewar monthly averages. The second figure's implication is challenged because the figure is based on postwar, not prewar, prices.

These claims and counterclaims may be a little complex and confusing. But any shopper knows that all the statistics showing record highs in production, employment, and so on, aren't putting goods on the shelves. The average consumer might be more inclined to agree with the budding columnist Harold Ickes, who has stated flatly, in defense of OPA, that the law of supply and demand won't work today because there is no supply, only demand.

During the war the various agencies that surveyed the increase in the cost of living never did agree on a common answer. And today, for all the encouraging figures, the supply of many urgently needed items is absent, or short, or outrageously priced.

Today's consumer is more interested in goods than in figures. Yet he is, or should be, interested in the accuracy of government figures, too. For a growing suspicion that these figures may be used for policy purposes, rather than for information, could contribute to economic chaos.

Private Taxation

For some time now, James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, has been collecting royalties on phonograph records and musical transcriptions for an unemployment fund. John L. Lewis has asked for a royalty on each ton of coal mined by members of his United Mine Workers. Detroit grocers are complaining that they can get food delivered only by "joining" the teamsters' union or getting a short-term union "permit."

All these are private taxes collected by private citizens, chargeable in the end to the public. They are used for purposes beyond the knowledge or control of the direct and indirect taxpayers. They are, in effect, taxation without representation.

But to write of such things brings the charge of "labor-baiter" upon the writer. The suggestion that there should be laws to curb this power of private taxation brings the accusation of favoring "anti-labor" legislation. All of which is nonsense.

Laws are drafted for the protection of society and its various members, as well as for the punishment of offenders. This includes the laws covering extortion and practices in restraint of trade. But those two operations have become extra-legal rather than illegal when carried on by labor leaders within the scope of union activities.

To permit a citizen to practice extortion with a license, so to speak, issued by Congress and the Supreme Court, is as unfair as allowing a citizen to practice medicine without a license. In both cases, the public is the loser.

If Mr. Lewis is permitted to levy a private tax on coal and thus raise its price, or to shut down most of the country's industry and endanger life and livelihood if he is refused that permission, then the whole population suffers—union labor along with the rest.

In defense of Mr. Petrillo and Mr. Lewis and their unemployment and health and welfare funds, and in defense of the teamsters and whatever fund their "permits" and forced "memberships" go in, it is often said that these labor leaders are only "taking care of their boys."

Well, they do take care of the boys. By doing so they assure themselves of automatic election and reelection, term after term. They also build up for themselves an immunity to responsibility toward the people who put them in office. But, other things aside, "taking care of the boys" is scarcely an excuse for squeezing the many for a promised benefit of the few.

Once upon a time, business was allowed to squeeze the many for its own benefit, and dishonest men took advantage of the privilege. But the consequent curbs on unfair business practices didn't ruin business, or interfere in the least with an honest businessman's conduct of his affairs. Laws aimed solely at curbing comparable unfair labor practices could and should have a comparable effect.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Sources of Fat In Food

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WITH starvation facing many countries and food scarcities prevalent in all, it is important for the average person to understand more about nutrition.

The housewife, particularly, on whom the duty of feeding the family rests, should learn to think of various foods not so much by their table names, but as vehicles of the food elements which the body must have for growth and health.

In this way when one particular food is not obtainable, the clever woman may be able to find another which will serve the same purpose.

Meat, for instance, is important because it furnishes the complete protein which the body must have for the building of new tissue and the repair of worn-out cells.

Vegetable Proteins

Vegetable proteins are good as far as they go, but they are not complete. Supplemented by milk or eggs, however, they do very well in supplying the essential protein needs of the body.

Fats, too, have an important role to play. First of all, they supply energy, twice as much, weight for weight, as sugars, starches and proteins. They are also the carriers for certain of the vitamins which dissolve in them, vitamins A, D, E, and K.

There are, of course, a number of fats which are included in the usual diet such as the fats from milk in the form of butter, various vegetable fats, and the fat of meats and oils. According to Dr. Harry J. Deuel, Jr., of the University of California, it is believed that certain types of fats cannot be manufactured in the body.

The only source of the type of material in these fats known as triglycerides is in food. Corn oil is especially rich in this substance, while butter may be largely lacking in it.

Margarine, which is made in large part from cotton seed, peanut, and soybean oils as well as from meat fats, would seem to be just as satisfactory in the human diet as is butter, according to Dr. Deuel. Such margarine as is employed is in practically all instances fortified with vitamin A.

Experiments have been carried out on rats, in which the animals were divided into two groups, one group receiving butter as the source of fat in the diet, while the other received the margarine.

The growth of both groups of animals was about the same. The results of Dr. Deuel's experiments showed that corn oil, cotton seed, olive, peanut and soybean oils as well as margarine were all equally as effective in promoting growth as was butter, when all of the other essential elements of food were supplied to the animals.

Nutritional Value

The nutritional value of milk is not confined to the fat in it as some people often think. Milk supplies carbohydrates as well as proteins needed for building tissue.

It would appear from the experimental work which has been conducted that fats are interchangeable in the diet. So far as present

Events Prove A Rebuttal

The fundamental proposition of the New Deal—that a labor union can do no wrong—has been given another hard rebuttal by John L. Lewis.

If the president of United Mine Workers had assigned himself to the task of proving that the New Deal handed labor bosses more power than they were prepared to use wisely, he couldn't have done a better job. He, his union and his political maneuvers have done more to jar the public into realization of actual and potential abuses of the labor movement by ruthless leaders than anything in the New Deal era, except illegal seizure of plants during the C.I.O. drive to organize auto workers. That drive was made, incidentally, under the direction of John Lewis as president of C.I.O.

In 1940 Mr. Lewis, having fallen out with Franklin D. Roosevelt, bolted to Willkie, promising to carry his union with him. His promise to resign the presidency of C.I.O. if Willkie lost was crammed down his throat. Philip Murray became president of C.I.O., and he and Lewis began a feud for prestige that has cost workers millions of dollars and lately has taken the shape of a civil war in the ranks of union labor. This war is no longer secret. It is in the open. It is a showdown struggle for control.

The coal strike which has set back the nation's production schedules another few months at a critical time is the latest event in a series so continuous it has become a condition. It has been demonstrated over and over that labor unions have been given more leeway in federal law and more consideration in the application of law than their leaders can be trusted with for the nation's safety. Events provide the rebuttal to the New Deal's hopeful proposition that labor leaders could do no wrong.

Government Statistics

For as long as anyone can remember, government facts and charts have been a source of generally accepted information. To quote "government figures" was to quote statistical gospel. Now, however, some heretical questions are being raised by various businessmen and economists.

The general tenor of their complaint is that glowing government reports on production are inaccurate, unsupported, and put out for "propaganda" purposes. It is claimed that some agencies have drawn the wrong conclusions from their own figures, and that business has drawn conclusions from other government figures with adverse and unhappy results.

One instance cited is the suggestion that industry generally could raise wages from 15 to 25 per cent without raising prices. This was made by the Commerce Department and Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion on the basis of "government figures." Since then, upward price revisions by other agencies have tended to contradict this conclusion.

Another specific complaint is against the OWMR assertion that total output of goods and services is up some 44 per cent from the prewar level, and that the "gross national product" is $134,000,000,000.

The first figure has been contrasted with the Civilian Price Administration's preliminary estimate on March production, which showed drops of from 25 to 75 per cent in the output of automobiles, trucks, refrigerators, electric ranges, sewing machines and laundry equipment below prewar monthly averages. The second figure's implication is challenged because the figure is based on postwar, not prewar, prices.

These claims and counterclaims may be a little complex and confusing. But any shopper knows that all the statistics showing record highs in production, employment, and so on, aren't putting goods on the shelves. The average consumer might be more inclined to agree with the budding columnist Harold Ickes, who has stated flatly, in defense of OPA, that the law of supply and demand won't work today because there is no supply, only demand.

During the war the various agencies that surveyed the increase in the cost of living never did agree on a common answer. And today, for all the encouraging figures, the supply of many urgently needed items is absent, or short, or outrageously priced.

Today's consumer is more interested in goods than in figures. Yet he is, or should be, interested in the accuracy of government figures, too. For a growing suspicion that these figures may be used for policy purposes, rather than for information, could contribute to economic chaos.

Private Taxation

For some time now, James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, has been collecting royalties on phonograph records and musical transcriptions for an unemployment fund. John L. Lewis has asked for a royalty on each ton of coal mined by members of his United Mine Workers. Detroit grocers are complaining that they can get food delivered only by "joining" the teamsters' union or getting a short-term union "permit."

All these are private taxes collected by private citizens, chargeable in the end to the public. They are used for purposes beyond the knowledge or control of the direct and indirect taxpayers. They are, in effect, taxation without representation.

But to write of such things brings the charge of "labor-baiter" upon the writer. The suggestion that there should be laws to curb this power of private taxation brings the accusation of favoring "anti-labor" legislation. All of which is nonsense.

Laws are drafted for the protection of society and its various members, as well as for the punishment of offenders. This includes the laws covering extortion and practices in restraint of trade. But those two operations have become extra-legal rather than illegal when carried on by labor leaders within the scope of union activities.

To permit a citizen to practice extortion with a license, so to speak, issued by Congress and the Supreme Court, is as unfair as allowing a citizen to practice medicine without a license. In both cases, the public is the loser.

If Mr. Lewis is permitted to levy a private tax on coal and thus raise its price, or to shut down most of the country's industry and endanger life and livelihood if he is refused that permission, then the whole population suffers—union labor along with the rest.

In defense of Mr. Petrillo and Mr. Lewis and their unemployment and health and welfare funds, and in defense of the teamsters and whatever fund their "permits" and forced "memberships" go in, it is often said that these labor leaders are only "taking care of their boys."

Well, they do take care of the boys. By doing so they assure themselves of automatic election and reelection, term after term. They also build up for themselves an immunity to responsibility toward the people who put them in office. But, other things aside, "taking care of the boys" is scarcely an excuse for squeezing the many for a promised benefit of the few.

Once upon a time, business was allowed to squeeze the many for its own benefit, and dishonest men took advantage of the privilege. But the consequent curbs on unfair business practices didn't ruin business, or interfere in the least with an honest businessman's conduct of his affairs. Laws aimed solely at curbing comparable unfair labor practices could and should have a comparable effect.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Sources of Fat In Food

BY HERMAN N. BUNDSEN, M.D.

WITH starvation facing many countries and food scarcities prevalent in all, it is important for the average person to understand more about nutrition.

The housewife, particularly, on whom the duty of feeding the family rests, should learn to think of various foods not so much by their table names, but as vehicles of the food elements which the body must have for growth and health.

In this way when one particular food is not obtainable, the clever woman may be able to find another which will serve the same purpose.

Meat, for instance, is important because it furnishes the complete protein which the body must have for the building of new tissue and the repair of worn-out cells.

Vegetable Proteins

Vegetable proteins are good as far as they go, but they are not complete. Supplemented by milk or eggs, however, they do very well in supplying the essential protein needs of the body.

Fats, too, have an important role to play. First of all, they supply energy, twice as much, weight for weight, as sugars, starches and proteins. They are also the carriers for certain of the vitamins which dissolve in them, vitamins A, D, E, and K.

There are, of course, a number of fats which are included in the usual diet such as the fats from milk in the form of butter, various vegetable fats, and the fat of meats and oils. According to Dr. Harry J. Deuel, Jr., of the University of California, it is believed that certain types of fats cannot be manufactured in the body.

The only source of the type of material in these fats known as triglycerides is in food. Corn oil is especially rich in this substance, while butter may be largely lacking in it.

Margarine, which is made in large part from the cotton seed, peanut, and soybean oils as well as from meat fats, would seem to be just as satisfactory in the human diet as is butter, according to Dr. Deuel. Such margarine as is employed is in practically all instances fortified with vitamin A.

Experiments have been carried out on rats, in which the animals were divided into two groups, one group receiving butter as the source of fat in the diet, while the other received the margarine.

The growth of both groups of animals was about the same. The results of Dr. Deuel's experiments showed that corn oil, cotton seed, olive, peanut and soybean oils as well as margarine were all equally as effective in promoting growth as was butter, when all of the other essential elements of food were supplied to the animals.

Nutritional Value
The nutritional value of milk is not confined to the fat in it as some people often think. Milk supplies carbohydrates as well as proteins needed for building tissue and repairing worn-out tissue.

It is an excellent source of such minerals as calcium or lime, and phosphorus, and it supplies large amounts of riboflavin or vitamin B-2.

It would appear from the experimental work which has been conducted that fats are interchangeable in the diet. So far as present day knowledge is concerned, no one fat seems to be essential.

However, in order to improve the taste of food and to aid in furnishing enough calcium and heat units fats are important in nutrition.

Letters to Dr. Bundsen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Demings, Eagles, Bowling Center And Sinclair Win Tries In Class A Softball Play At Centennial Park Yesterday

AMERICAN LOOP FEATURES HARD HITTING GAMES

Sip-N-Bite Beaten 14-4; Ohio Grill Outdone By Eagles

The Sinclair Oilers, 1945 city champs, opened the season with an easy 14-4 victory over a hapless Sip-N-Bite squad on the southern diamond at Centennial park yesterday as the Eagles rebounded for the first win in three games, defeating the Ohio Grill 8-4 in the late game.

The victory moves Sinclair into the unbeaten ranks along with Mullins and Leetonia in the American league and the loss drops the Grill squad into a tie with the Sip-N-Bite, both having lost two of three.

Chet Brautigam, ace slow-pitcher, hurled seven-hit ball for the smooth fielding Oilers. The former Salem News pitcher walked no one in the contest, fanned a pair and kept the game well in control all the way.

His teammates backed him up with 11 solid blows, including a four-bagger that two aboard by Third Baseman Bob Miller in the sixth inning.

Den Freed helped things along with a trio of doubles in four times at the plate. The Sip-N-Bites committed six miscues to add to Al Zoccolo's bad time on the mound.

Zoccolo gave up 11 hits, walked eight batters and fanned three. Sinclair scored single runs in the first and second, batted across three in both the third and fourth and added six in the sixth frame.

Three walks, an error and a rebounding double by Big John Dermott netted the Eagles three runs in the first inning of the Eagle-Grill fray. The lodge men scored one more in each of the second and third frames and added two in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Henry Dermotta limited the Grillers to eight hits, walked one man and fanned nine. The Eagles tagged Joe King for six hits, got eight important walks and four of them struck out.

Bogey Man

If Tami Mauriello could wear that weird upholstery in the ring against Bruce Woodcock he might frighten the British heavyweight champion into unconsciousness. But Tami plans to do it with his fists in Madison Square Garden, May 17.

DALE RITCHIE LOSES; PUMP HURLER WINS

Bowling Center Defeats China; Brudery Has One-Hit Show

Hurler Dale Ritchie of the Salem China went down to a 5-4 defeat at the hands of Cousin Bill Ritchie of the Bowling Center National league play on the northern diamond at Centennial park last night. Demings' Kenny Brudery shut out the Firestone outfit with a single hit, 6-0, in the second National loop game.

Bill Ritchie, despite somewhat erratic control which offered the Potters six bases on balls, out-did Cousin Dale in other departments to win.

Dick Lantz' home run in the fifth with one on spelled the China's defeat, scoring the fourth and fifth Center runs to make the margin.

Dale Ritchie allowed four hits, walked none and fanned four batters. Bill hurled four-hit ball also, walking six and whiffing a quartet of Potters.

The Potters scored one in the first to a pair by the Bowling Center. The China went into the lead 4-3 in the fifth but the Bowling Center rally, which produced three in the fifth, clinched the contests.

Pumpers Hit Fisher

Five hits in the second inning gave Demings four runs from Bill Fisher's offerings and another pair of tallies in the third made the game total.

Demings clouted Fisher hard, getting 12 hits as Fisher went through the game without issuing a walk and striking out two.

Bob Shick's double in the fifth inning was the only hit from Kenny Brudery, who seems to be well up to his form of several years ago. Brudery walked only one man and fanned eight.

AMERICAN LOOP FEATURES HARD HITTING GAMES

Sip-N-Bite Beaten 14-4; Ohio Grill Outdone By Eagles

The Sinclair Oilers, 1945 city champs, opened the season with an easy 14-4 victory over a hapless Sip-N-Bite squad on the southern diamond at Centennial park yesterday as the Eagles rebounded for the first win in three games, defeating the Ohio Grill 8-4 in the late game.

The victory moves Sinclair into the unbeaten ranks along with Mullins and Leetonia in the American league and the loss drops the Grill squad into a tie with the Sip-N-Bite, both having lost two of three.

Chet Brantigan, ace slow-pitcher, hurled seven-hit ball for the smooth fielding Oilers. The former Salem News pitcher walked no one in the contest, fanned a pair and kept the game well in control all the way.

His teammates backed him up with 11 solid blows, including a four-bagger with two aboard by Third Baseman Bob Miller in the sixth inning.

Freed Clouts Three

Den Freed helped things along with a trio of doubles in four times at the plate. The Sip-N-Bites committed six miscues on the mound. Zoccolo's bad time to add to.

Zoccolo gave up 11 hits, walked eight batters and fanned three.

Sinclair scored single runs in the first and second, batted around three in both the third and fourth and added six in the sixth frame.

Three walks, an error and a rebounding double by Big John Dermotta netted the Eagles three runs in the first inning of the Eagle-Grill fray. The lodge men scored one more in each of the second and third frames and added two in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Henry Dermotta limited the Grillers to eight hits, walked one man and fanned nine. The Eagles tagged Joe King for six hits, got eight important walks and four of them struck out.

DALE RITCHIE LOSES; PUMP HURLER WINS

Bowling Center Defeats China; Brudery Has One-Hit Show

Hurler Dale Ritchie of the Salem China went down to a 5-4 defeat at the hands of Cousin Bill Ritchie of the Bowling Center National league play on the northern diamond at Centennial park last night. Demings' Kenny Brudery shut out the Firestone outfit with a single hit, 6-0, in the second National loop game.

Bill Ritchie, despite somewhat erratic control which offered the Potters six bases on balls, out-did Cousin Dale in other departments to win.

Dick Lantz' home run in the fifth with one on spelled the China's defeat, scoring the fourth and fifth Center runs to make the margin.

Dale Ritchie allowed four hits, walked none and fanned four batters. Bill hurled four-hit ball also, walking six and whiffing a quartet of Potters.

The Potters scored one in the first to a pair by the Bowling Center. The China went into the lead 4-3 in the fifth but the Bowling Center rally, which produced three in the fifth, clinched the contests.

Pumpers Hit Fisher

Five hits in the second inning gave Demings four runs from Bill Fisher's offerings and another pair of tallies in the third made the game total.

Demings clouted Fisher hard, getting 12 hits as Fisher went through the game without issuing a walk and striking out two.

Bob Since's double in the fifth inning was the only hit from Kenny Brudery, who seems to be well up to his form of several years ago. Brudery walked only one man and fanned eight.

The game was nearly a perfect one in the field, Demings' Gabby building, E. Fourth st., now stands. The boys and girls did not play together in the "good old days." They had separate playgrounds, she said.

There was no gymnasium and the pupils were given their instruction in physical exercises before the school session.

Bennie Authorne, Negro janitor at the High school for many years, was popular with the students. If it was time to ring the bell and he saw a boy or girl coming, even a block away, he would wait until the student arrived to ring the bell, thus saving him from being tardy.

Recalls Early City
Salem's downtown district has completely changed, with one exception, since Mrs. Van Blaricom was a girl. The MacMillan book shop has been in the same location ever since she can remember.

She recalls when the building now occupied by The Salem News was the home of William Allen. He operated a fish and oyster market in the small room just west of his home.

When Mrs. Van Blaricom was 20 years old she went west, and for eight years she was a telegraph operator for the Northern Pacific Railroad Co., working between Glendive and Billings, Mont. In those days the operators worked 12 hours a day and seven days a week. They frequently lived in the small stations along the line.

While she was employed as telegraph operator her romance with S. N. Van Blaricom, an engineer employed by the same company, began.

The couple were married in April, 1900, by Rev. M. F. McCauley, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the bride's home, Lincoln ave., now S. Lincoln ave., in the house now occupied by Robert Campbell and family. The Griselle family lived in this house for many years.

Hobby Is Painting
Mrs. Van Blaricom has lived in her present home for 43 years. Her interests outside her home and church have been in painting, drawing and wood carving. Most of her pictures are flowers. However, she was awarded a prize on a scenic view. She is a charter member of Perry grange.

Mrs. Van Blaricom is the mother of five children, one of them, a son, died in infancy. The others are: John, at home; Mrs. A. G. Harrison of Columbus; Mrs. W. H. Falor of Akron and Robert of Huntington, W. Va. Mr. Van Blaricom died last June 16.

Mrs. Van Blaricom is a niece of the late Dr. Elizabeth Griselle, who practiced medicine in Salem for 40 years. Dr. Griselle was a member of the second class of women to graduate from Western Reserve university, Cleveland, after women were permitted to study medicine. Her brother, the late Dr. Paul Griselle, practiced dentistry here for many years.

Epidemic Mystery In Texas Cleared
AUSTIN, Tex., May 14—State Health Officer George W. Cox said today the so-called mystery malady sweeping San Antonio and Corpus Christi was no mystery, and that the outbreak "very likely" could be blamed on unsanitary conditions.

He diagnosed the disease as either poliomyelitis or encephalitis, and warned the cities affected to clean up.

Four fatalities have resulted from the 15 cases of the malady reported in San Antonio. One person was reported in critical condition today in Corpus Christi, where four cases were reported. In Amarillo, Jerry Hall Owen, 7, died last night of polio, the first victim there.

Nurses county, in which Corpus Christi is located, closed all schools, churches, theaters, night clubs, parks, play grounds and swimming pools for two weeks, and prohibited public gatherings of more than five persons. Schools in San Antonio were closed also.

Auto Industry To Face Almost Complete Tie-Up

DETROIT, May 14—The nation's automobile industry, according to the National Automobile Dealers' association, "cannot avoid almost complete paralysis within the next few weeks" despite the truce in the coal strike.

The association in a report to its members says that coal mined during the truce period "will go to the essential utility and health services," contributing nothing to the industry's effort to maintain car production.

Appraising impending shutdowns, curtailment of steel production, parts shortages and other impediments to continued car output, the dealers' association asserts that 1946 new car production will be far below original estimates.

Honor Wellsville Girl

COLUMBUS, May 14—Members of Chimes, Junior Women's leadership society at Ohio State university, "tapped" 16 sophomore co-eds shortly after midnight today in an annual ritual.

Bertelsen Acquires Cherry Valley Site

LEETONIA, May 14—The Bertelsen Co. of Pittsburgh and Bridgeville, Pa., has purchased the portion of the Cherry Valley owned by the village.

The company's bid of $1250 was accepted by village council at a special meeting.

L. W. Bertelsen, chief executive of the company, was in Leetonia with his engineer to map plans for remodeling of the two buildings located on the land.

William Bertelsen, his son, a research chemist recently discharged from service, is a student at Cornell university and will be associated with the company upon his graduation next spring.

The Bertelsen company manufactures an item known as "Thermo-cell" used in the manufacturing of iron and steel.

Plans for improving the buildings have been drawn.

The young men of Rev. T. P. Laughner's class conducted the opening and closing services during the Sunday school hour.

Reunion of All Churches Of Christian Creed Urged

NEW YORK, May 14—The Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Episcopal bishop of New York, called today for the "reunion of all Christians, both Catholic and Protestant, in the one great church of God."

The clergyman said:

"The reunion of the church will come and, today, there are many signs of its coming. The close and brotherly relations between the Anglican churches and the Catholic orthodox churches of the east is growing still closer."

"In protestantism there is a great movement back to orthodoxy and away from humanism."

"Reunion will come, not by compromise of faith and conviction, not by throwing aside creed and doctrine, but by fuller appreciation of the truth revealed in Christ."

NOW ^{YOU MAY} RESTORE PRE-WAR PERFORMANCE ^{IN ONLY 30 MINUTES}

Northway Cabs of Columbus, Ohio, did their part in war-essential transportation. Let C. S. Denton, owner and manager, tell about New Sohiotone in his own words: "The cabs in which we used New Sohiotone were badly sludged and not in good shape mechanically. The compression tests taken before and after the use of New Sohiotone speak for themselves. The cabs are now running smoothly with very good acceleration and we notice considerable increase in gasoline mileage. They are also starting much easier." Mr. Denton has since placed his order for a substantial quantity of New Sohiotone and said, "I expect to use it regularly."

She recalls when the building now occupied by The Salem News was the home of William Allen. He operated a fish and oyster market in the small room just west of his home.

When Mrs. Van Blaricom was 20 years old she went west, and for eight years she was a telephone operator for the Northern Pacific Railroad Co., working between Glendive and Billings, Mont. In those days the operators worked 12 hours a day and seven days a week. They frequently lived in the small stations along the line.

While she was employed as telephone operator her romance with S. N. Van Blaricom, an engineer employed by the same company, began.

The couple were married in April, 1900, by Rev. M. F. McCauley, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the bride's home, Lincoln ave., now S. Lincoln ave., in the house now occupied by Robert Campbell and family. The Griselle family lived in this house for many years.

Hobby Is Painting
Mrs. Van Blaricom has lived in her present home for 43 years. Her interests outside her home and church have been in painting, drawing and wood carving. Most of her pictures are flowers. However, she was awarded a prize on a scenic view. She is a charter member of Perry grange.

Mrs. Van Blaricom is the mother of five children, one of them, a son, died in infancy. The others are: John, at home; Mrs. A. G. Harrison of Columbus; Mrs. W. H. Falor of Akron and Robert of Huntington, W. Va. Mr. Van Blaricom died last June 16.

Mrs. Van Blaricom is a niece of the late Dr. Elizabeth Griselle, who practiced medicine in Salem for 40 years. Dr. Griselle was a member of the second class of women to graduate from Western Reserve university, Cleveland, after women were permitted to study medicine. Her brother, the late Dr. Paul Griselle, practiced dentistry here for many years.

Epidemic Mystery In Texas Cleared

Four fatalities have resulted from the 15 cases of the malady reported in San Antonio. One person was reported in critical condition today in Corpus Christi, where four cases were reported. In Amarillo, Jerry Hall Owen, 7, died last night of polio, the first victim there.
